

The baby fox cries long and hard into the night until he hears something move in the woods.

The baby doesn't know if the noise was his mother or something more dangerous. The baby fox can either:

Cry louder to attract the stranger

Go silent

